(New York Observer.) How to Cook a Ham .- An advertisement in another column tells us how to cook a ham. A rule for selecting a ham can be given in a few words: Select Ferris' hams. These and the boneless bacon by the same house are always to be relied upon. The cook may ply her art in vain, if the material be not right to start with. More delicious hams than those bearing the Ferris brand cannot be found and are not to be desired. But having second the best, proper cooking is then indispensable. I lay down my pen, for the savory odor of one of these delicacies of the dining-table has so aroused my appetite that I can no longer forbear. - Mrs. Brown.

"Seeing is Believing." And a good lamp must be simple: when it is not simple it is not good. Simple, Beautiful, Good-these words mean much, but to see "The Rochester" will impress the truth more forcibly. All metal, tough and seamless, and made in three pieces only, it is absolutely safe and unbreakable. Like Aladdin's of old, it is indeed a "wonderful lamp," for its marvelous light is purer and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light and more cheerful than either.
